

TT-Series (fixed-bed)

The TT Series is a long established model with origins back to the very first few trailers built by Brian James in 1979. It continues to do what it has done best for all this time, offer a dependable specification at a cost effective price. Built with commercial as well as private transport in mind every aspect of the operation is simple and efficient.

TT-Series (Tilt-bed)

The TT chassis with a hydraulic tilt-bed operation makes the TT Tilt-bed an especially versatile trailer. The most popular model in this range is the Tri-axle low-rider 3500Kg variant (353) having a full width loading panel and offers a quick, convenient loading operation as an alternative to a slide bed recovery unit.

Customers requiring the lowest possible loading angles can benefit from the combination of the TT Tilt-bed and a set of 2.0m aluminium loading ramps. These together provide loading ability sufficient for most modern supercars (see photograph below).
